

DOCTOR WHO ANIMATED ADVENTURES

Doctor Who Animated Adventures is a science-fiction spin-off family series, based on the BBC TV series 'Doctor Who', about the different incarnation of the relegated Time Lord called The Doctor. He also travels his time machine called the TARDIS (Time and Revelation Dimension in Space).

Not just he meeting his companions and enemies from the actual show, he also meets characters from the other entertainment franchises in the show.

The web-series was originally created by the man called Christopher Copeman and the other one, 'Doctor Who: The Movies Game' was created by Callum Precious.

The series first started on 30 August 2009 as 'Christel Doctor Who' until it was cancelled in June 2014 due to low viewers.

While the other series 'Doctor Who: The Movies Game' was first produced in c.2010 and only one episode was made.

In 2016, it was announced on The Movies 3D forum that Callum Precious will revive and reboot the entire series by merging two shows into one.

The script of Doctor Who Animated Adventures was believed started on 16 August 2015, a year after Christel Doctor Who cancelled, as where the pre-production of the show first started.

It was later re-written on 20 September 2015 after finding that the original script was unacceptable.

The script was completed on 7 May and the production is due to be scheduled in early-July and it will wrap up later in 2016.

The show, of course, will be available on YouTube Red in mid-2017 unless it will launch in the UK later in 2016; and there will be an adaptation of BabelColour's 'The Ten Doctors' in 2018 and there'll be Series 2 and beyond from 2019 after that.

The development of The Ten Doctors and Series 2 will commence after the production of Series 1 is completed.

Being the fan of Doctor Who makes me producing the spin-off series.

Like Scare PewDiePie; the show will not be a fan series, Instead it will be an official series for YouTube Red.

The series will be produced by dwho1995 Internet Service (formed in August 2015) and distributed by dwho1995 Entertainment under licence from Youtube Red, a YouTube company.

In addition, we may plan to have in-talks with the BBC to broadcast the show in September 2017 on BBC iPlayer following internet premiere.

We've also delighted to announced that Doctor Who Animated Adventures will have 15 series (+specials) from next year until 2033.

The world premiere date is due to be announced in autumn. If someone dominates the world premiere, the re-schedule dates may rarely occur.

More information on the show within six months.
